

WEST HOATHLY REMEMBERED

by John Ralph

This new book is a sequel to "Old West Hoathly" which was published in 2012. It continues the objective of bringing to the public the evolving contents of the West Hoathly Local History Archive. It contains about 49,000 words and 650 illustrations in the form of 12 essays. These cover a range of topics concerned with the residents of the parish, the places where they lived and their activities over the past 100 years or so. It maintains the high standards of the previous one with the addition of some colour pictures. Litho printing on high quality paper, sewn pages, real cloth covered hard back with debossed front picture and lettering all help to create an unusually attractive book.
